We are writing on behalf of the parties to request a joint extension of time for the parties to exchange and discuss infringement and invalidity contentions for the above-referenced matters. Specifically, DataTern, Inc. ("DataTern") requests leave to serve its infringement contentions on March 23, 2012, instead of today. In exchange, Plaintiffs will serve their invalidity contentions to DataTern on April 23, 2012, seven days later than the original deadline. The parties would then exchange claim construction terms on April 30, 2012 and they would meet and confer about the same two days later, on May 2, 2012.

The remainder of this Court's schedule will remain intact. The parties agree that this minor extension will facilitate the claim construction process and assist in the timely resolution of this matter.
